

Theodore Blik

Theodore Blik is the Co-founder and CEO of a European fintech company WestStein. He holds a bachelor's degree of arts and sciences in German language and Business Management. Theodore began his career in finance shortly after graduating in 2012 working with private investors in various fields before starting WestStein in early 2015. WestStein is a neobank, offering European current accounts for individuals, SMEs and payout solutions for corporate clients with account holders from 25 EU counties.